Page 81 This section explains the two main sending methods Memory sending and Manual sending via the handset. Memory Sending Memory sending is a quick and easy way to send a document. As the FAX scans the first page of a multipage document into its memory, it begins calling the other party and transmitting the information even as the remaining pages are being scanned. Since the FAX is multitasking, you can even scan a document into memory while performing other tasks. Page 85 There are two methods of redialling Manual redialling and Automatic redialling. This section explains these two methods.

Automatic Redialling What is Automatic Redialling. The FAX asks you to confirm that you want to cancel automatic redialling. Redialling is not cancelled until you press. Page 88 Sending the Same Document to Several Fax Numbers Sequential Broadcasting This feature, also called Sequential Broadcasting, allows you to send the same document to several fax numbers in one operation. Simply load the document, enter the fax numbers, and the FAX will then scan the document into its memory and send the document to all the fax numbers you entered, one after the other. You can send the same document to as many as 116 fax numbers using this feature. If you enter a wrong destination, press C, then enter the correct destination. You must enter the second destination within five seconds of entering the first one. All subsequent destinations must be entered within 10 seconds. Page 90 Delayed Sending Your FAX allows you to scan a document into its memory and send it automatically to as many as 116 fax numbers at a preset time within the next 24 hours. This is called Delayed sending or Timer sending. By using this feature, you can take advantage of lower long distance rates at night, for example. Page 96 Receiving Methods The FAX provides you with several modes for receiving faxes. To determine which mode best suits your requirements, refer to
